NEW FACULTY

Adam Belay

Belay will join EECS as an assistant professor in July 2017. He received a PhD in computer science from Stanford University, where he was a member of the secure computer systems group and the multiscale architecture and systems team. Previously, he worked on storage virtualization at VMware Inc. and contributed substantial power-management code to the Linux Kernel project. Belay's research area is operating systems and networking. Much of his work has focused on restructuring computer systems so that developers can more easily reach the full performance potential of hardware. He received a Stanford graduate fellowship, a VMware graduate fellowship, and a Jay Lepreau Best Paper award from the USENIX Symposium on Operating Systems Design and Implementation (OSDI).
